

What is the Fellowship ?

The Executive Fellowship in Innovation Health Leadership is a year-long cohort-based program that develops both the mindset and skills necessary for our Fellows to accelerate innovation within their home organizations. EFIHL includes a combination of:

Four multi-day immersions at industry-leading institutions and online content from innovative thought leaders

Mentorship and advising from renowned innovation faculty on developing individual innovation projects

Development of innovative leadership behaviors such as: boundary spanning, risk taking, visioning, leveraging opportunity, adapting, facilitating, and coordinating information flow

Who are our Fellows?

We bring together senior leaders from around the world to develop critical thinking about new approaches to optimize quality, cost, access and the environment of healthcare. EFIHL takes an interprofessional approach, with Fellows benefiting from the diverse skills and experiences of their peers. Fellows are comfortable challenging the status quo, visioning potential and striving to actualize possibility. They tend to be bold and outcome-driven leaders, striving to advance innovative environments or micro-climates for themselves and employees.

One Fellowship. A Nationwide Experience

EFIHL immersions highlight innovation leaders in a variety of organizations and fields around the country. These experiences build upon the program content to illustrate innovation leadership in action. 2018 Cohort Immersions will be held on:

- October 16-18, 2018 – Phoenix, AZ
- February 5-7, 2019 – Atlanta, GA
- May 14-16, 2019 – Phoenix, AZ
- August 6-8, 2019 – San Francisco Bay Area, CA

Examples of past immersion partners have included: Google, IDEO, Garfield Innovation Center, Institute for Healthcare Improvement, Brigham & Women's Hospital, Cincytech, and Cincinnati Children's Hospital.
