

(New web page)

Under AONL Foundation Awards

Title: Nominate a Researcher

The AONL Foundation Nurse Researcher Award recognizes an individual who has made a significant contribution to nursing and health systems research. Nominate a candidate for the 2019 AONL Foundation Nurse Researcher of the Year Award.

Nomination Deadline: November 12, 2019

Selection Criteria:

- Recognized in the nursing community as an outstanding nurse researcher.
 - First preference will be given to researchers who have focused on AONL priorities.
 - Nominator should provide a brief narrative (1000 words or less) of how this nominee's work has impacted the field and the nominator.
 - Letter(s) of recommendation (no more than 3) from peer researchers with knowledge of the nominee's contributions to quality of research and scholarly activities.

- Superior performance in the areas of research scholarship.
 - Number of research or data articles published in the last two years.
 - Quality of publications (index score) for articles published
 - Number of citations body of work has received.
 - Evidence of other contributions to the field based on their scholarly work. Examples may include:
 - Active participation in interviews/ expert panels
 - Student mentorship/ advisement based on nominees scholarship
 - Service on local, regional or national boards related to their research and scholarly activities

- Evidence of the impact the nominee's research has had on the field. Nominator should provide qualitative and quantitative evidence, if known. Examples include:
 - Schools of nursing incorporating work into the curriculum
 - Organizations incorporating a tool into their patient care processes resulting in a measurable difference/improvement.

- Nominator should provide the following additional documentation:
 - Nominee's curriculum vita or resume
 - Brief biography (300 words maximum)
 - Listing of key papers or other publications related to nominee's research work
 - Highlight internal and external financial support of nominee's work.

Eligibility: AONL membership is not required. Sitting members of either the AONL Foundation Board or the AONL Board are ineligible.

Submit your nomination. <https://nurseleaders.wufoo.com/forms/p1eqhjq407m0ixz/>

Contact: AONLFoundation@aha.org with any questions.

